

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

Rivalution Introduces a New Product into the Mainstream for Real Estate Consumers and Vendors

New integrated process and product shatters industry norms by reengineering the current adopted system for transacting real estate and maximizing value for both consumers and vendors as a result.

Date of Release

October 27th, 2025

Location of Origin

Westminster, Maryland, USA

The Rivalution is officially here! Today marks a landmark occasion within the real estate industry, as Rivalution finally unveils its superior alternative to the standard process of how consumers have purchased and sold real estate for decades. With limited room for innovation due to existing laws, this product still manages to deliver 33 major benefits, which are designed to support a wide variety of needs.

Among the most notable benefits are the potential for massive cost savings and the freedom to use real estate agents only when preferred.

Indulge yourself in the endless possibilities that Rivalution embodies by exploring the newly-released information package in its entirety. This product development, in such a rigid industry, represents a monumental victory for consumers at large. Through the Rivalution process, the power of choice has been restored.

